

Alex Trapp
*Senior Vice President
Business Development*

Alex Trapp serves as Senior Vice President of Business Development for StandardAero. Trapp is responsible for leading enterprise-wide business development strategies, pursuit of new platforms/ customers and orchestration of joint ventures, mergers and acquisitions, working closely with each of the company's diverse business units around the world. He reports directly to the CEO and is a member of the company's Executive Leadership Team.

Prior to joining StandardAero in 2016, Trapp served as Vice President, Commercial at Rolls-Royce North America, where he was responsible for driving the company's strategy, long-term contracts, bidding and negotiating new business. In addition to working at Rolls-Royce, Trapp has extensive airline expertise having served in strategic planning, corporate development and finance leadership roles for ExpressJet Airlines and Continental Airlines. Overall, Trapp brings 17 years of experience advising and leading companies through startup, turnaround and high growth environments to StandardAero.

Trapp holds an MBA from Washington University, Olin School of Business and a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Trinity University.

StandardAero is one of the world's largest independent providers of services, including engine and airframe maintenance, repair and overhaul, engine component repair, engineering services, interior completions and paint applications. The company is a global enterprise that employs nearly 6,000 employees worldwide with annual revenues approaching $3 billion. StandardAero serves a diverse array of customers in business and general aviation, airline, military, helicopter, components and energy markets. The company celebrated its 100th year of industry leadership in 2011. StandardAero is owned by and partnered with Veritas Capital, a leading private equity firm headquartered in New York City.

www.standardaero.com